NEW "ABC" INDUSTRIAL TRAINING KITS!

Feeling the urgent need for a really good, yet extremely simple line of models for the beginner who wishes to learn "aviation through models", we experimented with scores of different types of designs and construction. Discarding some of the better known yet less desirable methods by a process of elimination, we now offer to beginners two "ABC" kits, from which even six year old children have successfully built at least some of these models. However, they are not recommended for children below eight years of age. Ten years would be the better age limit.

As evidence of our intense interest in getting veterans being rehabilitated, or beginners, off to a better start, we have produced a motion picture known as AVIATION THROUGH MODELS (No.1), to assist veterans, beginners and instructors alike, as to the "know how" of model building. These films shall be available through public libraries in the larger cities, veterans' hospitals, schools, and other educational institutions.

The kits are "dry", containing no cement. There is no rubber in it at present, because of war restrictions.

The first contains two paper gliders, one of paper and wood construction, one built-up tissue covered, and one 17" wood contest glider. Kit MAC-I 25c

The second contains a 9" hand launched built-up model, a 12" hand launched built-up (but may be made into r.o.g.), and an 18" senior r.o.g. model. Kit MAC-II 25c

Both Kit. and Film have AYA Approval

(We cannot fill dealer, school, or retail orders for these kits. See your dealer or jobber.)
